Agenda Items – Topic:

Update(s) on:

Finances- Heather Brumblow

- Public Health still has three grants that are considered COVID grants; one will be complete at the end of February and the other two at the end of June 2025.
- The Gun Violence Prevention grant funds have been completely utilized. This was a very successful program; almost 500-gun safes and other gun safety devices were given out. If the funding becomes available again, PH will definitely reapply.
- Our five core programs that renew every year and fund the majority of their programs, are still in place and going well.
- Vital records are off and running and going well

BLS/CPR classes- Becky Copeland

- The classes that are currently scheduled will be free of charge. In the new year, with the exception of County employees, they will have to start charging for the cards that are issued upon completion of the training. These classes have been well received.

Vaccines

- Still offering all ACIP recommended vaccinations. After the holidays, they want to offer walk-in flu vaccination clinic.

Staffing

- Selene Cooper has returned from maternity leave.

Policies

- Developing the following policies:
 - Memo of Understanding w/State of CO for contract monitoring
 - HIPPA
 - Building Access
 - Record Retention
 - Vital Statistics
 - Bonus
 - Cash Handling
 - Allocation

Vital Records

- The implementation of the Vital Records program has been stressful, but it is going well and finally starting to pull in some funds. The community seems grateful that a local entity has taken this on and they don't have to go out of town to get what they need. Becky thanked the other County departments (IT, Finance, Legal) that helped them get this program up and running.

PH will not be doing Sex Ed for the high school. The school district has decided to use a curriculum with the physical education programs. They still might be doing it for the middle school, but the Board of Education needs to decide.

Dr. Fitzgerald complimented the Department of Public Health and called them "small but mighty".
